We provide reservation services to ensure optimal business meetings in major cities.

Product

NexTrip

Function and Usage : NexTrip is a sales intelligence AI platform. It provides key services for entering the overseas market in the early stages. In the preparation stage for entering the market, 1) sharing a company introduction to discover potential partners 2) providing concierge services for business trips 3) supporting follow-up support for continuous partnerships. It is the best service for start-ups that are trying to enter the overseas market. In 2024, we will provide services through our website, and we will provide application-type services sequentially

Marketing and Selling Points : NexTrip is a sales intelligence platform that provides the best services for a startup's early entry into the market. The NexTrip AI platform enables you to identify business partners before a business trip and efficiently manage prior information before a meeting. This significantly reduces the trial and error required to prepare for a business trip abroad. This will increase your business meeting's success rate and produce the best results. If you want to pursue successful meetings with investors, companies, and promising startups on a business trip abroad, you should use NexTrip Services.
